Transformation, Opportunity, Identity: Reflections on a Decade in a Hospital Medical Library

Medical Librarian, Infirmary Health System

Transformation

The Medical Library underwent an involuntary transformation in 2015 when its space was identified as a suitable location for a training space for our new electronic health records (EHR) team. Sixteen shelves of rolling journal storage were removed to build the room, which now occupies the back half of the library, with a wall and a door dividing the space. Five full-time EHR training staff members are located here, conducting training sessions regularly.

Weeding

DOCLINE request reports informed journal weeding process Regional title retention such as Southern Medical Journal and Alabama MD emphasized Usage and currency informed the book weeding process

Updated Service Model

Emphasis on Proactive Information Delivery
Rapid response information after Joint Commission and other surveys
Hospital Best Practice Committee packets
LibGuides host content for Alabama College of Osteopathic Medicine
Journal Club presentations
Nursing Journal Club
Nursing student orientation for students on their clinical rotations
Employed nurses who are working on advanced degrees are identified through their managers and sent an informational welcome email

Wider Range of Patrons
Nurses
Nursing Students
Clinical Employees
Medical Students
In the past, 90% of all library duties were for physicians. Now 40% of duties are performed for non-physician patrons.
The hospital now employs increasing numbers of hospitalist physicians, and the library is a key meeting place and de facto office for them.

Opportunity

Increased Involvement with Other Hospital Departments:
Serving as facilitator for Nursing Residency Program Evidence Based Practice Capstone projects
Partnering with physician preceptors on Alabama College of Osteopathic medicine
Editing services for patient materials to maintain appropriate reading level for patient literacy
Medical Library added to physician, physician assistant, nurse practitioner orientation

Courses and Presentations Added
Evidence Based Research for Nurse Residents
Consumer Health Literacy
Library Resources for Nursing students- collaboration with Spring Hill College School of Nursing and Burke Library
History of Nursing exhibition for Nurses Week, with exhibits in the hospital and in the museum- collaboration with the Mobile Medical Museum

Professional Development Encouraged
Professional Association Membership added
NNLM Courses:
Getting Started with Information Outreach in Your Community: An Introduction.
Clinical Information, Librarians and the NLM
Consumer Health Literacy

Evidence Based Nursing Capstone Project for Nurse Residents

Starting in 2018, The Medical Library is co-directing a 12 month poster project with 40 Nurse Residents.

The instructional components include
PICOT
Evidence appraisal and levels of evidence
Small group librarian lead research sessions
Poster presentation preparation
Hospital-wide event presenting their projects, with a judging panel that will select a winner and send them to a conference

Library value from this project
Drives traffic to the library's LibGuides, where resources and presentations are hosted Repeats three times throughout the year, with each new Nursing Residency Cohort, groups ranging in size from 40-60 nurses
Supports the hospital's goal of national certification for the new Nursing Residency Program

Identity

The librarian still performs literature searches for physicians for patient care every day
The print collection is maintained on a smaller scale. Physician preceptors for ACOM students are the driving force behind collection development decisions.
The threat to the library space ultimately proved that the hospital had many patrons who cared about keeping a medical library
Physician champions of the library contacted administrators.
A special Historical Collection evolved out of the weeding process, highlighting documents, teaching slides, photographs and ephemera unique to the hospital staff.
The vitality of the library as place has only increased over time

Solo Librarianship

The Medical Library in Mobile Infirmary has operated under a solo librarian since it was established.
Virtual accessibility and technology help fill in the gaps for librarian's availability. A short welcome email to new physicians sets up a chain of communication.
Lib Guides added as a virtual presence when the librarian is not in the library.
The physical library is available to patrons 24 hours a day, and sees usage throughout that time.
Pick up and drop off of requests is a simple, effective cornerstone of our services.
Humble paper artifacts like faxes and business cards still do important work.

What happened to the library? Where are the books?

When the construction process began, people took notice and expressed concern and support.

Most comments concerned this red armchair, which remains in the hallway.
